LOVE ONE ANOTHER

Is there something you can do to brighten someone's day? Is there something you can say that will bring a little cheer? Everybody needs to feel loved and cared for. Through your words and actions you can show those around you what they mean to you.

You can show your love for others with your words by saying things that are kind and caring. When your actions are helpful and when you follow through on what you know you should do, this shows those you love that you care.

Love looks for ways to make others happy.
