

HOW FAR CAN PRAYERS GO?

The Bible tells us to “pray always.”¹ That doesn’t mean that every thought or word we speak needs to be a prayer, but it means that we should pray often. When someone comes to mind, we can pray for that person.

When we pray, we can be “certain God will hear our prayers when we ask for what pleases him.”² That doesn’t mean that everything we pray for that is pleasing to God will immediately happen—sometimes the answer to our prayers takes time, because God knows a better time or way to bring about the answer.

With God’s help, prayers can make a difference in places and situations that are far removed from us.

Here’s a story of a young lady who through her prayers and giving made a difference around the world.

² 1 John 5:14 CEV

When we are reminded of something or when someone comes to mind, we can use those opportunities to send up a prayer. We can thank Jesus for His care, ask Him for guidance, and pray for those in need. When we ask in faith and believe God will bring the answer He knows is best, our prayers can make a difference no matter how far the distance.

And since we know he hears us when we make our requests, we also know that he will give us what we ask for.
