When you show kindness to people in little ways, when you are courteous and well mannered, it's also a way of showing love to Jesus.

By practicing courtesy, you're being loving and kind to Jesus, too, because you're showing love to the people He created.

It is also an example to others of what Jesus is like.

People appreciate it when others treat them with thoughtfulness and courtesy.

It's often the little things that are so important. Just a little courtesy can make others feel appreciated and cared for.

There are hundreds of little things you can do throughout the day that can make
someone's life happier
because of your kindness.

An easy way to be sure that you're kind and courteous in all you do is to follow Jesus' golden rule to "do unto others as you would have them do unto you" (Matthew 7:12).

You can ask Jesus for ideas of ways that you can practice courtesy every day!

With your parent or teacher, make a list of things you can do to be courteous to others, then try to do some every day!
