

Sharing Every Day

Sharing is a way of showing kindness every day.

I know I'm doing right when I share as I play.

I know that when I give,
even when I'd rather not,

It makes Jesus happy, and leaves me with this thought:

That Jesus gives me many blessings, and I can turn around,

And pass them on to someone else who maybe wears a frown.

I can take their frown and turn it happy right-side up,

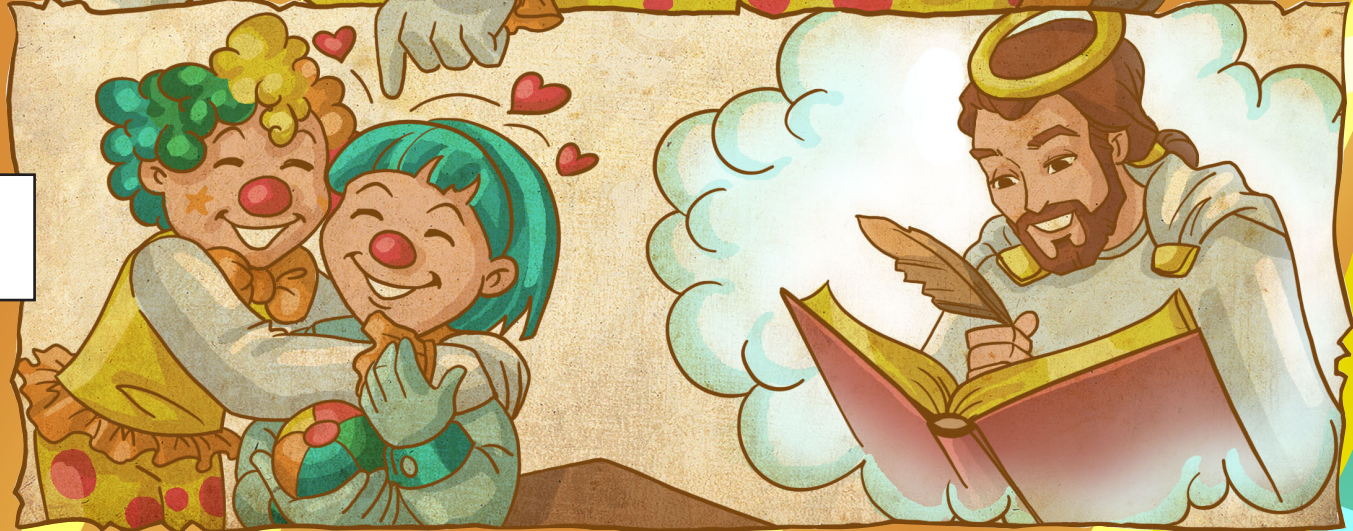

Because when I love and share, Jesus can fill me up.

He watches what I do each day and keeps a great big book;

He writes about each loving deed, thought, word, and look.

And yes, I think it makes Jesus so very glad

To see me share with others who are sad.

Jesus, thank You for this special gift I can give

To those around me by the caring way I live.

I can see that on the days when I am kind and share,

I find so many special blessings bursting everywhere.
