

"I Have Kept the Faith"

(Acts 28)

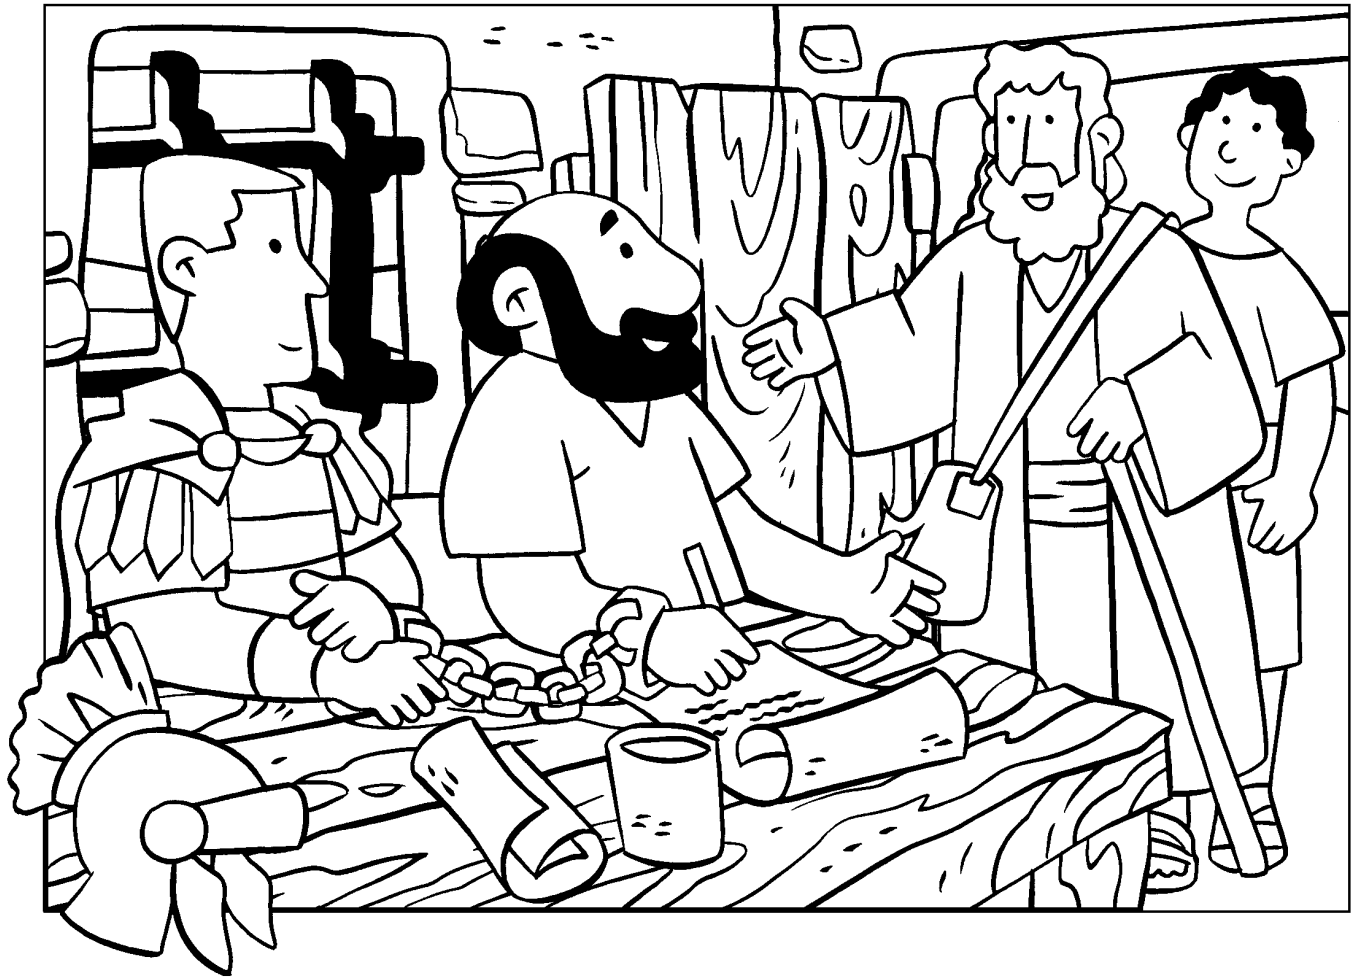

After the ship transporting Paul was shipwrecked, they came ashore on the island of Malta. Read in "Paul's Protection from a Viper Bite" about what happened next to Paul on the island of Malta.

Paul was on Malta for three months, during which time many sick people were brought to him for prayer and were healed.

He was then transported the rest of the journey to Rome. In Rome, Paul was allowed to stay by himself in his own home, with only a soldier guarding him. Many people visited Paul at his home, and he boldly taught them about Jesus!

Though Paul was unable to visit the churches he had established in his journeys, he used this time to write and teach them. Some of the letters Paul wrote at this time are found in the Bible: Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians, and Philemon.
