

Jesus and Zacchaeus

(Luke 19:1–10)

While passing through Jericho, Jesus met Zacchaeus, a rich tax collector. Because Zacchaeus was short, he climbed up a tree to watch Jesus pass. When Jesus saw Zacchaeus in the tree, He called, “Come Zacchaeus. I want to go to your house and dine with you.”

Many people followed, complaining and grumbling at Jesus. They couldn’t understand how Jesus could eat with Zacchaeus, who they hated because he took money from them to give to the Romans—their conquerors and enemies.

Later, Zacchaeus said to Jesus, “I am sorry for my greedy life. I will give half of my wealth to the poor. If I cheated someone, I will pay back four times as much as I took.”

Jesus said to Zacchaeus, “Today salvation has come to this house.”
